

As we wrap up our Thanksgiving festivities and prepare for Advent, I have to confess something. Last Wed. night at our Thanksgiving Eve service, I completely forgot a video I was going to show at the beginning of the Message. So, I figured I'd put it out there as today's blog. But then I saw that the rights I have to the video, don't allow me to simply put it out on YouTube (and rightfully so). So, as a workaround, I want to encourage you to go to the following sight and watch the Preview of the video on their site. They are called The Skit Guys and I've used there material for years. They are funny, poignant, and meaningful. And I thought their Thanksgiving video this year was especially meaningful. Check it out, and happy Thanksgiving one last time.

<https://skitguys.com/videos/unprecedented-thanks>